Prior to Racing:

The Stewards noted that the results from the routine test of, ROI DU MONDE, trained by Alyson Malzard came back negative. The trainer was duly informed.

The Stewards noted that due to the forecast high temperature the time in the Parade Ring would be reduced to 5 minutes before the off and jockeys would be given a 1-2lb discretionary allowance to ensure they remained hydrated throughout the course of the afternoon. The Parade Ring Steward and the Clerk of the Scales were duly informed.

Veterinaries, trainers and grooms were reminded to be mindful of the weather conditions, ensure that horses were cooled effectively and made aware that horses should not be left to stand in hot horse boxes for extended periods of time. All Stewards were reminded to look for signs of heat stress in participants during racing, both equine and human.

The Head of Racing and three Senior Stewards interviewed Mr. Karl Kukk in relation to the incident in the parade ring on the 28th July 2024. Whilst he was highly apologetic, he was left in no doubt as to the seriousness of his actions. It was noted that there had been a further incident but that had been dealt with separately by the Jersey Race Club and was therefore not subject to further enquiry, but it pointed to a pattern that must not continue. He was fined £500 on both matters, so a combined total of £1,000. Mr. Kukk has indicated that he will not be training in the islands next season and thus after deliberation the penalty was suspended until the close of the 2025 racing season.
